i How does RF Pro work?

RF stands for Radio Frequency. RF is a treatment that delivers gentle heat deep into the dermis at approx. 38 - 41°C.

The treatment head has four metal contact points that touch the client's skin - these alternate from positive to negative current (approximately 2,000,000 times per second). The cells try to line up with this very fast, alternating current.

Think of it like an exercise class in the dermis! This excess heat stimulates cells, which in turn makes them produce collagen and elastin within a faster cell renewal cycle.

When we combine this with vacuum suction, we can also detox the area, draining away lymphatic fluid, plump out fine lines, and improve the texture of the skin.

Chromatherapy is added to the treatment to further facilitate the anti-ageing effects, and to enhance the results.
